UNITED STATES CODE: §§ 1051, 1063

STATES THAT UNLESS REGISTRATION IS SUCCESSFULLY OPPOSED, A MARK ENTITLED TO REGISTRATION ON THE PRINCIPAL REGISTER BASED ON AN APPLICATION UNDER SECTION 1051 OF THIS TITLE SHALL TYPICALLY BE REGISTERED IN THE PATENT AND TRADEMARK OFFICE, A CERTIFICATE OF REGISTRATION SHALL BE ISSUED, AND NOTICE OF THE REGISTRATION SHALL BE PUBLISHED IN THE OFFICIAL GAZETTE OF THE PATENT AND TRADEMARK OFFICE.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE TRADEMARK OWNER

ANY PERSONS WHO MAY BE DAMAGED BY THE REGISTRATION OF A MARK MAY FILE AN OPPOSITION IN THE PATENT AND TRADEMARK OFFICE WITHIN THIRTY DAYS AFTER THE PUBLICATION OF THE MARK. AS A TRADEMARK OWNER, IT IS YOUR RESPONSIBILITY TO ACTIVELY PROTECT YOUR MARK.

TRADEMARK MONITORING

Once a mark is published in the Official Gazette, trademark owners who may consider certain proposed mark(s) confusing or infringing with their own have thirty days to notify the USPTO of their objections to registration of the mark. If there is no objection to the proposed mark within thirty days, the mark typically becomes registered in the USPTO. The United States Trademark Center, with its proprietary software and customized process for reviewing published word marks, can assist trademark owners by monitoring word marks published in the Official Gazette. The United States Trademark Center provides a trademark owner with information that may be important to maintain its own trademark rights and can allow a trademark owner the ability to oppose marks before these marks become registered. Trademark monitoring is an annual subscription and commences upon receipt of the form below with due payment. Include check or money order for \$ 385.00 US per trademark with form and enclose using the provided envelope.

 Monitoring

SECTION 2 OF THE UNITED STATES TRADE MARKS ACT:

No Trademark shall be refused registration unless it so resembles a mark registered as to be likely to cause confusion.

Trademark law allows the United States Patent and Trademark
 Office (USPTO) to grant
 trademarks that may be confused with other trademarks.

The trademark owner retains sole responsibility for the protection of trademarks registered by the United States Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO) and the enforcement of the statutory rights associated with it.

Businesses have become increasingly aware of the benefits of registration of a trademark. The number of applications for registration has increased to over 200,000 per year, resulting in an increased potential for confusion between similar marks. Using sophisticated computer software, the electronic database maintained by the USPTO for trademark applications and registrations may be accessed, enabling detection of potentially conflicting trademark applications. Trademark applications are entered into the USPTO's database when received. The American Trademark Agency (ATA) monitors this database, seeking possible conflicts for trademark owners. Identified conflicts allow the trademark owner or their legal counsel to file a "letter of protest" with the USPTO, outlining why the application should not move forward.

Once a prospective mark is approved by a USPTO Examiner, it is published each week in the USPTO's "Trademark Official Gazette". The purpose of the publication is to give those who believe that the registration of the prospective mark will be damaging 30 days from publication to file a Notice of Opposition with the USPTO, or seek an extension of time to oppose. If this deadline is not met, the right of opposition is lost, and the application can proceed. All the aggrieved party can do after registration of the objected-to mark is commence a legal action by way of a Petition filed with the USPTO seeking the cancellation of the registration, a proceeding which is complex and usually requires the help of legal counsel.

The ATA monitors and reports on applications for trademarks at the USPTO, so you may bring opposition proceedings in a timely fashion, if you so choose. We are a private entity and do not give legal advice relating to trademarks or such proceedings. The ATA monitors trademarks.

To enable monitoring of the trademark(s) listed above, please complete the required sections below and return to the American Trademark Agency.
